

IT COUNTS EVERY TIME YOU LOOKED AWAY.

Most timers tell you time's up. Lockin tells you what happened.

The moment you switch tabs, Lockin notices. You can't lie to it, because it isn't asking.

Every escape is counted, and every second away is separated from the time you actually focused. No session ends with a cheerful "done!" — it ends with the truth.

HANDS-FREE · 22 VOICE COMMANDS

"Lockin, how am I doing?"

↪ Thirty-eight minutes focused. You've looked away six times.

Start, pause, extend, log a distraction, finish — none of it needs a keyboard. At the end it reads your score back and starts your reflection recording itself.

● Focus Fingerprint

It learns your shape — your best hour of the day, how many minutes before your attention breaks, and what pulls you away most.

● Comeback streak

Broke a 14-day run? Most apps punish you. Lockin invites you back — fifteen minutes today earns a Comeback Badge.

● Focus Duel

One link, no account. Both timers start the same second. Highest focus score takes it, and it goes on a permanent record — You vs Aisha, 4–2.

● One-minute voice journal

Speak for sixty seconds when a session ends. Weeks later, read exactly why that Tuesday fell apart.
